THE SUPREME COURT.

DECISIONS RENDERED TUESDAY, MARCH 9, 1886.

Hon. James Jackson, Chief Justice; Messrs. Samuel Hall and M. H. Bradford, Justices—Reported for the Constitution by J. R. Lumpkin, Supreme Court Reporter.

East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad vs. Wright & Co. Damages. Negligence. (Before Judge Mershon.)

Trail, J.—Where goods were shipped by steamer from Baltimore, Md., to Savannah, Ga., and thence by a connecting railroad to New York, and on their arrival it appeared that a portion of the goods had been abstracted, and the railroad tendered their value, but this was refused, because the consignees also claimed damage to the goods from salt water during the voyage, which was contested.

Held, that the items for damage and for loss of goods were severable, and the tender was proper and should have been accepted.

2. Where it was conceded that the damage to the goods occurred during the ocean voyage and was complete before their delivery to the railroad, the liability of the latter to the consignees therefor would depend upon the contract of affreightment between the steamship company and the plaintiffs. If the steamship company was not liable, and the railroad company would have no recourse on it, the railroad company would not be liable to the consignees.

(a.) Where the bill of lading issued by the steamship company provided for an exemption from injury resulting from "blowing" of bilge water upon the goods, and from other perils of the sea, and the evidence showed that the injury resulted from such "blowing" of bilge water, occasioned by the rolling and tossing of the vessel, and there was no evidence of negligence either in the storage of the goods or in allowing any unusual quantity of bilge water to collect, a verdict finding for the plaintiffs for the amount of damage so occasioned was contrary to law. 12 How, 27, 17 Wall, 651.

(b.) A bill of lading by an ocean steamship company containing an exemption from liability for "blowing" and other perils of the sea is valid and binding on the consignees who receive it. Ang. Carriers, 2 186 and citations in notes, and (a).

(c.) Opinions of witnesses as experts that damage to goods was occasioned by negligence, is not admissible, and if admitted should not weigh against positive testimony to facts instead of conclusions. 69 Ga. 506.

(d.) Where the evidence leaves it in doubt whether the damage was occasioned by the ordinary perils of the sea or by the negligence of the company, and where there is an exemption in the bill of lading from the injury occasioned by such perils, the bill of lading protects the company, and they would not protect themselves from the damage resulting from this cause, they should have obtained a marine policy of insurance. 69 Ga. 437, 441; 15 Id. 20.

(e.) The verdict in excess of the shortage is contrary to law and unsupported by evidence, and is set aside for the amount of the shortage, which must stand. But plaintiffs must pay costs both in the superior court and in this court.

Judgment reversed with directions.

Goodyear & Kay, for plaintiff in error.

Tr. E. Smith, Frank H. Harris, for defendant.

Savannah, Florida and Western railway vs. Folks. Case, from Pierce, Railroads, Damages. Negligence. Master and Servant. Non-suit. (Before Judge Mershon.)

Hall, J.—Where the undisputed evidence showed that an engineer of a railroad company violated his rules furnished for his government in respect to passing switches and turnouts, and in respect to the speed at which trains should run and the precautions to be used by engineers to prevent collisions, and that collision occurred in whole, or at least in large part from his negligence in this regard, and that such collision caused his death, a recovery by his widow against the railroad for his homicide was contrary to law and unsupported by the evidence, whether or not there was also negligence on the part of the company's employees on the other train which the collision occurred. Code, 2303 and cits. 35 Ga. 107, 108; 10 Id. 212; 30 Id. 73; 63 Id. 151, 152.

(a.) Such violation of rules appearing from the evidence for the plaintiff, seems that a non-suit should have been granted.

Judgment reversed.

Chisholm & Erwin, for plaintiff in error.

John C. McDonald; Lester & Ravenel, for defendant.

Black, solicitor county court, vs. Pillsbury, judge. Mandamus. Costs. County Court. Sumter county. (Before Judge Fort.)

Hall, J.—Neither under the general law nor under the special statutes applicable to the county court of Sumter county, does any reason appear for interfering with the power, prerogative and duty of the county solicitor in prosecuting cases transferred from the superior court, merely because they are so transferred.

In cases of misdemeanor the solicitor-general of the circuit is entitled to a fee of five dollars for each person prosecuted to trial, or who pleads guilty, or for each bill of indictment he draws, and he is entitled to a fee of five dollars for each grand jury. This is all the fee which the law allows, and neither the state nor the accused can be taxed with double costs. Where such cases are transferred from the superior to the county court, the right of the solicitor-general to this cost being complete before the case was transferred to the county court, he was preferred (under the code 1146 subsec. 1), and an order for insolvent costs in such cases to the latter was properly refused. 61 Ga. 70, 72.

(a.) There is nothing in the two acts passed in 1883 in respect to the county court of Sumter county which makes provision for this special service. Acts 1882-3, p. 530, 533.

(b.) The judge of the county court had no jurisdiction to determine the question of fees between the solicitor of the district and the solicitor general; that jurisdiction and power is vested in the judge of the superior court. Code 229 (f).

(c.) How far the rule of equitable division was modified, if at all, by the special acts relating to Sumter county, is not decided, not having been determined by the judge of the superior court. Code 4253.

Guerry & Son, by brief, for plaintiff in error.

No appearance for defendant.

Lesk vs. Smith et al. Refusal of injunction, from Gilmer. (Before Judge Brown.)

Hall, J.—The order of the chancellor upon this application for injunction, though not in the terms of complainant's prayer, keeps the subject matter in dispute in the position in which it was found when the bill was brought, and protects every interest of the contending parties, until the case can be finally heard. Nine and doubtful questions were properly not determined on the preliminary hearing under ex parte affidavits, and those questions will not be reviewed here.

Judgment affirmed.

Miner, Aiken & Harris, for plaintiff in error.

Swift Specific Co. et al. vs. Davis. Libel. (Before Judge Hammond.)

Blandford, J.—Whether section 2967 of the Code, which provides that "no action for a tort shall abate by the death of either party where the wrongdoer received any benefit from the tort complained of," applies to actions of libel and slander or not, is not determined.

2. If libel and slander be so included, the benefit which will cause an action therefor to survive the death of the plaintiff must be one flowing immediately from the tort, and not one derived from other things not connected with such tort. Where the benefit was alleged to have arisen from profits derived from the sale of a certain medicine by reason of the publication of the libel, this was not sufficient. This differs from the case in 36 Ga. 159, Judgment reversed.

Reed, Reinhardt & O'Neill; Haygood & Martin, for plaintiffs in error.

R. Arnold, for defendant.

No Woman Could Make a Fool of Him.

From the Chicago Herald.

"Of all the fools in this world," said an elderly passenger on a Michigan central train, "I think Senator Jones takes the blue ribbon. The idea of a man of his age making such a dance of himself over a woman. The woman never lived that could hit me so hard as that. They can't throw any of their dirt in my eyes. I am too old a bird to be caught with feminine chatter."

These self-congratulatory remarks were uttered at 11 a. m. At noon a woman with a face once pretty, and still passable with the aid of a skillfully applied coat of rouge, came aboard at a waystation and occupied the seat next to the elderly passenger. At 1:30 the train stopped at a small town and the woman, who was dressed in a blue and white dress, and with a high hat, a loud scarf and a wicked eye, entered the car which was waiting near the platform. She was followed by a man in a suit and a high hat, a loud scarf and a wicked eye, who entered the car which was waiting near the platform. She was followed by a man in a suit and a high hat, a loud scarf and a wicked eye, who entered the car which was waiting near the platform.

At 2:30 the unhappy woman had controlled her grief and stayed the flood of tears. At 3:30 the elderly passenger, from the time after her departure, was wringing her hands in despair and her companion was reading the telegram which had been placed in his hands by his fellow traveler. At 4:30 the elderly passenger was standing with his open pocket-book in hand counting out $10 in crisp bills and handing them to the man in the suit and a high hat, a loud scarf and a wicked eye, who entered the car which was waiting near the platform. He was followed by a man in a suit and a high hat, a loud scarf and a wicked eye, who entered the car which was waiting near the platform.

A Man of Sixty-Eight Winters.

I am 68 years of age, and regard Guinn's Pioneer a fine tonic for the feeble. By its use my strength has been restored and my weight increased ten pounds.

A. F. G. CAMPBELL,
Cotton Gin Maker,
Macon, Ga., Feb. 18, 1886.

A Crippled Confederate Says.

I only weighed 128 pounds when I commenced Guinn's Pioneer, and now weigh 147 pounds, I could hardly walk with a stick to support me, and can now walk long distances without help. Its benefit to me is beyond calculation.

D. RUFUS BOSTICK,
Cotton Buyer,
Macon, Ga.

Mr. A. H. Bramblett, Hardware Merchant of Forsyth, Ga., Writes:

It acted like a charm on my general health. I consider it a fine tonic. I weigh more than I have for 25 years. Respectfully,
A. H. BRAMBLETT,
Mr. W. F. Jones, Macon, Says:

My wife has regained her strength and increased ten pounds in weight. We recommend Guinn's Pioneer as the best tonic.

W. F. JONES,
Dr. G. W. Delbridge, of Atlanta, Ga., Writes of Guinn's Pioneer.

Guinn's Pioneer Blood Renewer has been used for years with unprecedented success. It is entirely vegetable and does the system no harm. It improves the appetite, digestion and blood-making, stimulating, invigorating and toning up all the functions and tissues of the system, and thus becomes the great blood renewer and health restorer.

DRUNKENNESS
Or the Liquor Habit, Positively Cured by Administering Dr. J. H. Haines' Golden Specific. It can be given in a cup of coffee or tea without the knowledge of the person taking it, is absolutely harmless, and will effect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. It has been given in thousands of cases, and in every instance a perfect cure has followed. It never fails. The system once impregnated with the Specific, it becomes an utter impossibility for the liquor appetite to exist.

Pencil Paragraphs Caught on the Fly by the Constitution Reporters.

PRISONERS IN JAIL.—There are now only about fifty prisoners in jail, and these are state prisoners.

A CRAZY WOMAN DEAD.—Martha Harber, colored, who was committed to the asylum in June, 1885, died day before yesterday.

THE HORNET.—A gentleman from Birmingham has been in the city several days, displaying a copy of the Hornet, the weekly sensational paper published in that place.

A FINE MARE.—Mr. G. B. Adair owns a beautiful iron gray mare (Ladette), which has a record of 2:38. She was sired by "Vidett," the great trotter of Lexington, Ky. She is seven years old.

NO COWHIDE YET.—The Calhoun-Badger sensation has about quieted down. Badger has not shown himself on the streets since he was chastised and promises to remain quiet for some time to come.

CHOPPED A LEG.—Yesterday afternoon, a small dog attempted to run under a riding street car on Peachtree street, near Decatur. He failed to make the trip, and the wheels of the car passed over his front feet, cutting it off.

YOUNG MEN'S MEETING.—A meeting will be held at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian association, corner Forsyth and Walton streets, this evening at 8, for young men only. All are cordially invited to attend, strangers excepted.

COMMISSIONS ISSUED.—The following commissions were issued from the executive department yesterday: A. A. Manning, of the 12th, J. P. Sims, of the 12th, J. P. Kridger, of the 4th and A. A. Wilson, of the 12th districts of Fulton as notaries public of the county.

MR. J. J. BARNES.—In yesterday's CONSTITUTION a paragraph mentioned a charge of disorderly conduct made in police court, against Mr. J. J. Barnes. The trouble was caused by a negro's insolence. Mr. Barnes is an excellent and orderly citizen.

HE IS IMPROVING.—Ol Hart, the fireman who is so ill at his residence on Anderson street, was some better yesterday. His condition, however, is still critical and his physicians have very little hope of his recovery. Chief Joyner has arranged the roll so that a fireman is by Hart's bedside constantly.

MEDITATING WITH THE MAILS.—Joseph F. Hernandez, has been convicted at Peachtree, in the United States court, of robbing the mails. The facts of his arrest and crime were given in THE CONSTITUTION some days ago. He was a shrewd fellow, and rifled many valuable letters before they caught up with him.

SOME GOOD SHOOTING.—Last night at the shooting gallery, Mrs. Evans and Mr. J. H. Barker did some very fine shooting. In ten shots Mrs. Evans scored five hits, and Mr. Barker, five. There was a large crowd, and the fun was enjoyed. Mrs. Evans will shoot against Mr. Barker Tuesday next, and says she will beat him.

RELATED TO EUGENE BECK.—The revenue prisoner Beck, whose sentence was suspended yesterday, is related to Eugene Beck, the Atlanta county wife murderer. Beck says that a cousin had been drunk for forty days and for nights prior to the night he killed his wife and her sister. He believes that his cousin was crazy.

THE FULL AMOUNT.—The superior court was engaged the latter part of yesterday hearing the case of the Atlanta Rubber company vs. the Willow Brook manufacturing company. After being out some time the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff for $25,000 principal, and $244.00 interest. The case was a very tedious one.

OUT ON BOND.—The negro, Dock Jackson, the convict guard, who shot and killed Faulkner, was released on bond yesterday. Captain James English becoming his bondsman for five hundred dollars. Jackson's case was appealed to the supreme court, and he was granted a new trial. Jackson is now at his wife's home on old Peachtree.

A REWARD PAID.—Yesterday the governor drew his warrant on the treasury for $50 in favor of George S. Shank, for the arrest and delivery of Don McElroy, to the state of Missouri. McElroy, while in prison in McDuffie county, awaiting trial on the charge of arson, broke jail and escaped. He will be held at the next term of the superior court of McDuffie county.

HE IS NO BETTER.—Officer Henry McWilliams, who has been sick at his residence at Garrett street, for two or three days, was worse late last night. Day before yesterday Officer McWilliams improved some, and his friends began to feel confident of an early recovery. Yesterday afternoon, however, he suddenly grew worse, and late last night his friends were becoming anxious about him.

AN ACCIDENT ON THE STATE ROAD.—The passenger train which left Chattanooga yesterday morning at 1:20 o'clock met with an accident near Graysville, which delayed it until last night at eight o'clock. The draw bar on the engine broke, tearing the track up to such an extent that several cars were thrown off the track. Several hours were required to repair the track. All trains on the road during the day met at the wreck where the passengers, baggage and mail were transferred.

THE STATE FAIR.—The state fair, which is now in location on grounds was to have been yesterday afternoon in Mayor Hillyer's office, but at the hour appointed for the meeting rain was falling in torrents, and only two members of the committee were present. Mr. Gramling, the chairman of the general committee, expects to call the four committees together for the purpose of exchanging views. At that meeting several letters offering ground suitable for fair purposes will be presented and read.

MORE ABOUT MR. Z. MOORE.—Mr. A. G. Grier yesterday said: "I know Mr. Z. Moore, the old railroad for years, and can tell something about him. He was born in Tallapoosa county and was in business in Crawfordville for some years. In 1850 he was conductor on the Georgia railroad, and in 1853 he was transferred to the Washington branch. In 1856 he was conductor on the Atlanta and West Point railroad, where he remained until Sherman's invasion. In 1866 he was conductor on the Western and Atlantic railroad under Major Campbell Wallace, and remained there two years, when his health began failing him. Then he was given a position as watchman. He was a Mason but never attended the meetings.

WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.—Much good is being done at the home of the Woman's Christian association, 147 Marietta street. There are sick in the hospital department, little children in the nursery department. One poor woman, who works in the factory, and whose husband is sick at home, brings two of her three little children each morning to the nursery to be cared for during the day. But for this home she would be compelled to stay at home and thus be deprived of the many means of supporting her family. The lunch room department is in need of funds with which to begin a work which is intended to be a source of revenue to the home. Will not some kind friend to this charity lend a helping hand just now? How many gentlemen will aid the good work by becoming honorary members of the association just now, as this is a particular time of great need? The sewing department is ready for work. Poor, dependent women are ready and anxious to work. Ladies are requested to bring their needlework and mending, which it will be well done, on reasonable terms.

WEDDED TO AN ACROBAT

AN ATLANTA GIRL MARRIES A CIRCUS PERFORMER.

Miss Minnie Averitt, of Church Street, Meets an Acrobat in Shields' Ten Cent Circus—They Fall in Love—The Young Lady Runs Away From Home—They Marry.

One of Atlanta's prettiest and most captivating seventeen-year-old girls married an acrobat in Shields' ten cent circus day before yesterday afternoon.

The marriage took place in the Cameron hotel parlors, in Chattanooga, Tenn.

The young lady was Miss Minnie Averitt, of 24 Church street, and her marriage to the acrobat makes a story thrillingly sensational and deeply interesting. The marriage was the result of love at first sight, and it promises to end in a sea of love and happiness to both bride and groom.

WHO SHE IS.
Miss Averitt was just budding into womanhood when she gave up a pleasant home and pleasant surroundings for a life under the canvas where the odor of sawdust and the music of the brass band constantly prevail. She is decidedly handsome and well educated, and during the past year or two has been the center of a large circle of admiring friends. No one could entertain better than she, and no one could make a deeper or more lasting impression upon a susceptible heart. She was lively, vivacious and a fluent talker. When she was present no party ever grew tiresome or insipid, and no one present expected more enjoyment from the occasion than she. Miss Averitt was about five feet high, and was stoutly but symmetrically built. She had a beautiful, round face, with even features. Her eyes were a blue, and when she was talking they fairly danced. A mass of golden hair, tastefully coiled upon the back of her head, gave her a naive appearance for one so young. The acrobat who won the heart of Miss Averitt was George Patterson, the man who made the fearless double-somersault while swinging through the air from one horizontal bar to the other.PARTY EVER GAVE TROUBLE or insipid, and no one present expected more enjoyment from the occasion than she. Miss Averitt was about five feet high, and was stoutly but symmetrically built. She had a beautiful, round face, with even features. Her eyes were a blue, and when she was talking they fairly danced. A mass of golden hair, tastefully coiled upon the back of her head, gave her a naive appearance for one so young. The acrobat who won the heart of Miss Averitt was George Patterson, the man who made the fearless double-somersault while swinging through the air from one horizontal bar to the other.HOW THEY MET.
During the stay of Shields' ten cent circus in Atlanta the tent was stretched on the vacant block at the corner of Hunter and Lloyd streets. One block from the tent on Pryor street Miss Averitt's grand mother resides and the young lady passed much of her time with her grand parent. On Wednesday last, one week ago, the young lady accompanied by a half dozen friends went to the circus. When they reached the tent they were attracted by the acrobat who was making his first appearance. He was a man of about thirty years of age, and was dressed in a blue and white striped suit. He was very handsome, and his movements were graceful and powerful. He was surrounded by a large crowd of people, and he was making a great success of his performance. Miss Averitt was very much attracted by him, and she was very much interested in his performance. She was very much interested in his performance, and she was very much interested in his performance.OBSERVE THE YOUNG LADY and their eyes meet and one glance only was given, but in that glance each knew that love was there. That evening Patterson returned to the party leave the tent and again managed to exchange places with the young lady. The glance this time was accompanied by a smile and then the two parted to their respective quarters. The next day the lady went to the circus and while there met Patterson. After that they had frequent interviews in which they showed their love for each other and arranged for the elopement which ensued, Miss Averitt.KEEP ALL THIS FROM HER PARENTS and family. She guarded her secret so carefully that no one dreamt that she had ever spoken to a circus man. On Sunday morning Shields' circus left for Chattanooga, and of course Patterson went with it. Miss Averitt's life was the same. At home she was the obedient daughter, the obedient daughter and loving sister. She went about the house singing and dancing and as happy as though she never intended to leave. On Wednesday afternoon last, just one week from the day upon which she first saw Patterson, Miss Averitt.LEFT HER HOME SOON AFTER DINNER.
saying that she was going to the Flora Moore home. That evening she left her home, and her home in time for tea, but her parents felt no uneasiness, thinking that she had gone to her grandmother's. Soon after dark they ascertained, however, that the young lady had not been home, and her grandmother's messengers were hurriedly sent to several of her friends' homes, but nowhere could anything be heard of the young lady. This drove her mother almost wild, and then Chief Conolly was sent for. The case was laid before him and he began working to find the young lady. All night Wednesday.THE SEARCH WENT on, but without success. On Thursday the chief accidentally ascertained that the young lady had been seen talking to Patterson while the circus was in Atlanta. The chief at once conceived that the young lady and gone to Chattanooga. He then telegraphed to the chief of police, and later in the day received a message saying she was there. This message the chief laid before the young lady's mother, and she decided to go to Chattanooga. Thursday evening she left for that place, and when she arrived was met by the chief, who told her that her daughter was at the Cameron hotel. Mrs. Averitt called at once at the hotel, and was told that her daughter was there.CLASPED HER CHILD IN HER ARMS.
The young lady took the meeting very coolly and, after kissing her mother, turned to Patterson and said: "Mamma, this is my husband, Mr. Patterson." Mrs. Averitt was considerably shocked at first, but finally accepted the situation as the best, and is still with her daughter. The young lady reached Chattanooga Wednesday night, and on the next afternoon went to the circus. After the performance she met Patterson, and with him went to the Cameron hotel, where she was met by her mother. Mrs. Averitt made them man and wife. They represented, however, that the young lady was from Bay City, Mich., and that they had known one another for years.THEY LOVE EACH OTHER.
The bride informed her mother that she loved Patterson better than everything, and did not regret what she had done and never would. Mrs. Averitt spoke of bringing her daughter home, when Patterson interposed, saying that he was her husband and that no one could or would take her away from him. Patterson is a handsome looking fellow of twenty-four years. Those who are with him say that he is sober, industrious and that he saves his money. He is working for $25 per week and says that he will send his wife to his parents in Bay City, Michigan. It appears to be a case of genuine love. Of the marriage the Chattanooga Times of yesterday says: "George Patterson, one of the acrobat performers of Shields' circus, was married at the Cameron hotel yesterday afternoon to Miss Minnie Averitt, of Bay City, Michigan. The couple have known each other for years, having first met at the home of the bride's grandmother. They were very much in love and they became engaged, but their marriage was postponed from time to time, owing to unavoidable circumstances. They finally concluded to wait no longer, and Miss Averitt came to this city yesterday and met her lover. About 6 o'clock yesterday minister was called and the couple were married in the parlor of the Cameron hotel."TO THE SOLDIER BOYS.
Dr. Hawthorne, the Chaplain, to Preach to the Guard.
A few weeks ago, Dr. J. B. Hawthorne, pastor of the First Baptist church, was elected chaplain of the Georgia City Guard. The company to the Guard at the First Baptist church. The company will attend in uniform, and will occupy front seats, reserved for them. A sermon will be one specially prepared for the company, and the text selected is "Christian Manhood." The governor and staff, mayor and general council, judges of the courts, have been especially invited, and will attend. The church will, doubtless, be crowded, and those who attend may expect to hear a masterly sermon.

ONE MORE PRISONER DEAD.

Harrison Hamilton, of White County, Dies in Jail.

Harrison Hamilton, a United States prisoner, died in Fulton county jail Thursday night.

The deceased was serving a term for violation of the internal revenue laws, for which he had been convicted in the United States court. His home was in White County, just a few miles from Cleveland, the county site of the county. The evidence against him for violating the internal revenue laws was strong and his sentence was made heavy.

N. S. Rodisill, who was serving a term for a similar offense, was his nurse and showed him every attention possible. He is from Habersham county, and also had a long sentence to serve.

AFTER THE DEATH
of Hamilton, Judge McCoy was notified and, upon the request of gentlemen connected with the department and the jail, sentences were suspended in the following cases:
John Beck, Habersham county, twelve days to serve; Francis Blalock, Elbert county, twenty-seven days to serve; N. S. Rodisill, Habersham county, sixty-seven more days to serve; James Dellinger, Habersham county, two months more to serve; Hamilton Baras, two months more to serve; Thomas Bonds, Habersham county, two months to serve.

Last night the prisoners gathered in the jailer's office and made their arrangements for leaving for their homes.

The remains of Harrison Hamilton were taken to the undertaking establishment of Patterson & Bowden, on Lloyd street, where they were laid out.

PREPARED FOR INTERMENT.
This morning the remains will be shipped to Cleveland, via the Air Line railroad, for interment. Mr. Rodisill will accompany the remains and turn them over to the relatives of the deceased.

Mr. Hamilton had been sick for more than a week, and for forty-seven hours previous to his death was in a deep sleep from which he could not be awakened. The last medicine taken by him was Wednesday, and when this was given it was believed that he would soon recover. Dr. Stiles, the United States surgeon in charge, did not think that he was in a dangerous condition, but he fell asleep and did not awake again.

The three other men sick were much better last night, and as soon as the weather permits will be carried to the Air Line railroad, for interment. The last medicine taken by them was Wednesday, and when this was given it was believed that they would soon recover. Dr. Stiles, the United States surgeon in charge, did not think that they were in a dangerous condition, but they fell asleep and did not awake again.

THE FERTILIZER TRADE.
Business on a Boom, and the Dealers Smile in Consequence.
It is estimated that over 1,500,000 bags will be used this year in connection with the inspection of fertilizers in this state. As it takes ten bags to a ton, it will be seen that this estimate is based upon the sale of 150,000 tons of fertilizers in Georgia during the season. Last year about the same number of tons were sold in this state. Up to date business in this state is very good.

In January the outlook was anything but encouraging to dealers in commercial fertilizers, one of them describing the situation at the time as being "bleak." This was regarded as an indication that the farmers were not buying on account of the low price of cotton. Since then and within the past few weeks, the foreign market has been very active, and the price of cotton has risen to a point where it is now on a boom. The continued demand for fertilizers, it is said, is to a great extent attributable to the large number of factories that have been established in this state for the purpose of manufacturing fertilizers. Another factory will be built at Conyers in time for next year's business. All of the stock for this factory has been subscribed and its construction will commence at an early day.

ATLANTA'S SEWERAGE.
Two Sanitary Engineers Give the System an Investigation—The Result.
The board of health met in regular monthly session yesterday afternoon at the city hall. The meeting promises to be productive of much good to the city.

Mayor Hillyer attended the meeting and introduced two eminent sanitary engineers who addressed the board relative to the sanitary condition of the city. The gentlemen are from Boston, and have acquired national reputation. They are Professors Bawditch and Bolton. The gentlemen are now constructing a system of water works in Charlotte, and came to Atlanta yesterday morning in response to an invitation from Mayor Hillyer. Yesterday, Mayor Hillyer and members of the board of health, conducted the gentlemen over the city, giving them an opportunity to investigate Atlanta's sewerage and water supply. In the afternoon, they attended the meeting of the board of health, and discussed the system, showing its defects, and how it could be remedied. The gentlemen were very much interested in the case, and they are now preparing a paper giving the true inwardness of the situation, and suggesting such remedies as can be applied. The paper will be finished and transmitted to Mayor Hillyer, Monday, and by him sent to the city council.

Where Jackson Will Go.
As the decision recently rendered by the supreme court in the case of George T. Jackson, of Augusta, charged with embezzlement of the funds of the Enterprise cotton manufacturing of that city, for a term of seven years, there is some curiosity expressed to know where he will be assigned to work out his sentence. Colonel Towers, upon being asked by a CONSTITUTION reporter, "I have not made up my mind as yet, where I will send Mr. Jackson. His son was in to see me a short time ago and we talked the matter over. Jackson will go to either the Deade county coal mines, the Chattahoochee brick yards, or to the camp at Old Town. I have told the lessees of these camps to think of the matter, and any one of them who desires him can have him. On account of his old age a place where light work of some kind can be had will be found for him. I think it probable that he will go to the Deade mines."Knights of Labor.

THEY PAY THE PENALTY.

A Lot of Moonshiners Go Before Judge McCay.

Judge H. K. McCay had his hands full again yesterday.

The moonshiners pranced to the feed rack and got their corn like little men. They are a set of beings and seem to look at such things as child's play.

The bonds in about nine cases were forfeited.

The following pleas of guilty were entered: E. M. Kelley, of Hart county, Georgia, retailing, one month; George Maney, of Habersham county, illicit retailing, two months; John Barlow Stevens and Allen Jones, of Habersham county, retailing, one month and $100 each; New Cameron, of Habersham county, retailing, one month and $100; Joe Garment, of Cherokee county, same offense and same fine; Daniel, of Cherokee county, one month and $100; George Cole, of Cherokee county, retailing, three months and $200. Sentences were suspended in a number of cases.

A Grand Success.

The supper given last night by the ladies of the First Methodist church, at the Gate City Guard armory, was in every way, a grand success. The room was beautifully decorated, and the ladies and little girls looked their sweetest. A handsome sum was realized. The supper was a most elegant one. The lunch and fruit feast this evening from 1 to 6 was largely attended.

NOT CAPTURED YET.

No Effort Being Made to Capture John Coffee.

As far as is known, no effort has been made to capture John Coffee, the murderer of Deputy Marshal John Merritt, at Lula Saturday night last.

It is understood that detectives from this city will look into the matter, and a reward of $750 will cause them to do good work.

The Gainesville Eagle, in speaking of the murder, says that it is a sad case, so good a man as John N. Merritt should be shot down in cold blood in a civilized community, and that the red-headed murderer should be allowed to go unwhipped of justice. Certainly the government will spare no pains and expense in capturing and punishing him.

John N. Merritt was born in Hall county, some four or five miles south of Gainesville, about forty-two years ago. He was raised at the old homestead by parents who have held a high place among the most respectable and worthy citizens of the country. He grew up under public training to be a study, honest, brave and public spirited man, and has in all the relations of life, whether as a soldier, or citizen, son, brother, husband, father or friend, borne himself in such manner as to win the love and respect of all. He was one of the best and most useful citizens, and the entire community join his aged parents, his brothers and sisters, and his grief-stricken widow and orphans in mourning his untimely and dastardly taking off. Social and kindly in disposition, brave and unflinching in the discharge of duty, uncompromising and firm where principle was involved, just and honorable in his dealings, and in a word a good man and a Christian gentleman, was John N. Merritt.

His remains were laid to rest in the old family burying ground on Monday last by his Masonic brethren and a large concourse of sorrowing friends.

THE FESTIVAL LAST NIGHT.

A Success Scored by the Ladies of the First Methodist.

In spite of the rain, mud and otherwise miserable weather, the supper last night given by the ladies of the First Methodist church was an immense success. The large hall was crowded with people, who seemed bent upon having an enjoyable time, and they met with the greatest success. Music, songs, conversation, and last, but not least, the satisfying of the hunger man with the many good things prepared for him caused the time to fly on wings, all too rapid for the guests to scatter about among the decorations.

All the dainties that imagination can picture or the palate desire were provided with a lavish hand, and served by beautiful young ladies and girls, attired in exquisite Mikado gowns and hair done up in the yam, yam style. The hall was gorgeously decorated with evergreens, Japanese fans, parasols, lace and various colored curtains, pictures and Chinese lanterns. Three railroad headlights furnished light for the money-changers to count the shekels that they raked in so freely.

Many ladies and gentlemen, who had been at the theater and demolished scores of the luscious bivalves.

About midnight the merry feasters went home, expressing themselves as having enjoyed a decidedly pleasant evening. The ladies cleared a handsome sum, which the little band of gospel helpers will use to the best advantage. Lunch and dinner will be served today at all hours and probably tonight. This afternoon there will be a feast of fruit and all are requested to come and eat and buy some for Sunday. All persons who have donated anything and have it sent in today by 10 o'clock to the hall, No. 74 Peachtree street, under the Gate City Guard armory.

PAYED FOR HIS FUN.

A Man Who Swindled Pays the Penalty for His Crime.

In the city court yesterday the case against the young white man, Miller, who bought out a restaurant on Broad street, and failed to pay for it, was brought up.

Miller was charged with cheating and swindling, and the jury found a verdict of guilty. Judge Van Epps told him he could pay fifty dollars or go to the chain gang for three months.

Miller bought out a negro restaurant on Broad street. He bought it on check and paid no money. The place was refitted and repainted, paying for the same out of the receipts of the office. Miller then served out different merchants and made purchases, telling the merchants to send their bills around to his restaurant. About time the bills began to fall due, Miller packed up the goods and skipped out. He was arrested in Chattanooga and brought back to Atlanta. He denied all knowledge of the transactions.

A STOLEN WATCH.

Two Brothers-in-Law Live in One Room—

One Steals a Watch from the Other.

Detectives Bedford and Stearnman brought a rather knotty case to a successful termination yesterday.

Monday night last, a fine gold watch and sixty-five dollars in money were stolen from a room in the St. George hotel, on Whitehall.

The room was occupied by H. C. Harman and F. H. Coleman, two railroad engineers, who happen to be brothers-in-law. The watch was a fine, double case, gold time piece, with an engine engraved on the case. Diamonds were set in the hands and the case was monogrammed with the letters H. C. H. were monogrammed. The watch belonged to Coleman. He had purchased it from Harman. Soon after the theft was discovered, Harman went to police headquarters and reported it, but a description of the watch. Detectives Bedford and Stearnman were instructed to investigate the case. At the hotel they were informed that the thief years ago, the house through a window which had been found open, and that they had gone out through the door which they unlocked. Detective Bedford, in examining the window, observed that the sill was covered with dust, and that none of the dust had been brushed away, as it ought to have been by a man getting through the window. This induced him to believe that the thief was a stranger to the house, and so thinking, the detective began work on the case. A day or two ago Detective Bedford began to suspect that Harman was the thief, and changed his tactics. Yesterday he was greeted with a cold stare by the thief, who was in the room. Harman was arrested and taken to the police headquarters and locked up. Later in the day a warrant charging Harman with larceny was sworn out by Detective Bedford. Harman was given a preliminary trial before Judge Tanner. In default of bond he was locked up.

LOTTA LAST NIGHT.

A Magnificent Performance at DeGrove's Opera House.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather last night a splendid house greeted Lotta in her admirable presentation of "The Natchez."

The audience was a thoroughly representative one, and a more enthusiastic and appreciative assemblage is seldom seen. The first appearance of the charming little southerner was greeted with a shout of applause, and she was in the same remarkable degree her wonderful faculty of immediately capturing her hearers and holding them in admiration, and eager expectancy.

Her song and dances of Lotta were greeted with the warmest applause as she was brought back again and again. Her costumes were particularly appropriate and handsome.

The play, "The Natchez," was written in Paris by the celebrated M. H. Bradshaw was one of the most successful of the season. In New Orleans, in Mobile, in Montgomery, in Birmingham, it took immensely.

The Rev. Charles Henry Ponsbury, D. D., F. R. S., this speaks of the moral merits of the play: "Many persons' morals are prejudiced against the stage that they look upon it as the source of all evil. If there be such among my readers, I should advise him or her to go and see 'The Natchez.' They have a dramatic work on sermon preached from the pulpit of the sacred fane. Written in homely language, the persons depicted are beings of an every day world; the incidents are common to us in every town; it is one of the most powerful and impressive dramas ever written. Words move and figures of speech are not so much the chief interest as that which is conveyed to it by means of the eyes. Mr. Harvey has become a great moral teacher, and has shown in his dramatic work on sermon preached from the pulpit of the sacred fane, and the stage made the vehicle of moral lessons."

Outstanding Rewards.

W. H. Harrison, one of the secretaries of the executive department, has just completed a statement of the outstanding rewards offered for criminals who have fled from justice. A STOLEN WATCH.

Two Brothers-in-Law Live in One Room— One Steals a Watch from the Other.

Detectives Bedford and Stearns brought a rather knotty case to a successful termination yesterday.

Monday night last, a fine gold watch and sixty-five dollars in money were stolen from a room in the St. George hotel, on Whitehall. The room was occupied by H. C. Harman and F. H. Coleman, two railroad engineers, who happen to be brothers-in-law. The watch was a fine, double case, gold time piece, with an engine engraved on the case. Diamonds were set in the engine to represent the headlights on the case. It was said that Harman had purchased it from Harman. Soon after the theft was discovered, Harman went to police headquarters, and reporting it, left a description of the watch. Detective Bedford and Stearns were instructed to investigate the case. At the hotel they were informed that the thief had entered the house through a window which had been found open, and that they had gone out through the door which they unlocked. Detective Bedford, in examining the window, observed that the sill was covered with dust, and that none of the dust had been brushed away, as if going to have been by a man getting through the window. This induced him to believe that the thief had been locked up in the house, and so thinking, the detective began work on the case. A day or two ago Detective Bedford began to suspect that Harman was the thief, and changed his tactics. Yesterday he was convinced that his last theory was the correct one, and arrested Harman. When Harman was arrested he was found with his purse, but the detective found it. In the purse thirty dollars of the stolen money and the watch were found. Harman finally confessed the theft. He was conducted to police headquarters and locked up. Later in the day a warrant charging Harman with larceny was sworn out by Detective Bedford, and Harman was given a preliminary trial before Judge Tanner. In default of bond he was locked up.

LOTTA LAST NIGHT.

A Magnificent Performance at DeGue's Opera House.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, last night a splendid and most admirable presentation of Mlle. Nitchouche. The audience was a thoroughly representative one, and a more enthusiastic and appreciative assemblage is seldom seen. The first performance of the play, "The Song of Lotta," was given with a round of hearty applause, which was renewed at frequent intervals throughout the performance.

Costume changed but little, if at all, since her appearance here several years ago. She still possesses in the same remarkable degree her wonderful faculty of immediately capturing her hearers' attention and holding them spellbound. Her singing and her dancing, her mimicry, her mischievous little creature, as ever, and her cute mannerisms, and catching ways have become more attractive than ever.

The play, "The Song of Lotta," was written in Paris for Lotta, who made it a magnificent success at the Grand Opera House. Its reception, however, in this country, in the hands of Lotta, has been even more enthusiastic than that of her first performance. Lotta is famous, and by the remarkable appearance of the play, she has established the songs and dances of Lotta were greeted with the warmest applause as she was brought back again and again. Her costumes were particularly appropriate and handsome.

The celebration of M. H. Bradshaw was one of the most ridiculous and laughable pieces of acting seen here for a long time, and its presentation was perfect. He kept the house in roars of laughter.

Mr. Alonzo Hatch as Fernand Champatrenne, had a remarkably well, his singing being specially well done. His voice is of a rich and melodious tone, and the audience seemed delighted with his performance. He was followed by the singer, who sang a number of songs, and the audience seemed to be particularly pleased with his performance.

Mr. Bertie Coate and Mr. George Frederick created a great deal of laughter. The manager and director of the "Pontiac Theater," "The Lady Superior" of Miss Eaton, and the "Corrine" of Miss Hinkley were well acted.

BASEBALL.

News of the Day as Seen From the Diamond of the Southern League.

The heavy rain of yesterday and last night will work a postponement of the game today. This is a great disappointment to the public, but the management has given assurances that a game will certainly be played at an early date—possibly next Tuesday. The best of the game will be given to the positions of the players. The arrival of Manager Purcell last night has given increased enthusiasm to the admirers of the sport in Atlanta, and has also increased the confidence of the team. He reports that the men are in excellent condition, and that with a week's practice they will be in fine form to begin the championship series. It is noted that Jackson and Charleston are cutting off their weak men, and are beginning to sign very strong teams. It is said that Macon is endeavoring to buy a strong team from Detroit, and it is thought that Charleston will sign Knott, who played last season. The exhibition game promised for early next week will afford the public an opportunity to judge of the merits of every player in the Atlanta.

Mitchell is the smallest man in the Atlanta, but he is the best pitcher in the country. John Cline, Atlanta's great short stop, has raised his offer to two dollars for a "hit." Thus it will be seen that Cline expects the Atlanta to be the champions again.

John Stricker, who arrived last night with Manager Purcell, is very much pleased with Atlanta and her team, and says that he intends to show the Atlanta league how second base ought to be played. Charleston has released Alex. Jacobs and W. A. Bourke, and intends adding two very strong hitters to her team.

The pennant will float for the first time at the exhibition game on Tuesday. The flag staff has already been raised.

Savannah is very sore over the fact that she did not win the pennant last year. She is determined to win this year, and she expects to receive consolation when the Atlanta knock Louisville out.

Col. Albert G. Armstrong, one of the best judges of baseball in the south, was out to see the Atlanta practice Thursday, and expressed the opinion that the Atlanta would still be the champion club.
